Members welcomed David Leech (Chief Officer, Communities, Customer Service and Digital – Torfaen County Borough Council) to the meeting. The Chief Officer explained to members that this workshop is about building a communities approach to the way services and activities are delivered within the community. How do we work together and collectively with our residents. We need to focus on what the well-being needs are, by getting people more involved and designing a system that allows us to work better together. Based on what the community is good at and where their strengths lie and then filling in any gaps. Early detection and prevention is key, bringing the community together around a common goal, empowering people and identifying better ways for interaction between everyone.

Members were asked to score what they think their communities priorities would be for the following categories , with 1 being the lowest and 5 being the most important to the community. The purpose of this exercise is to look at categories and gauge where the communities priorities currently are, specifically in relation to improving their well-being.

- Environmental category scored 5
- Income & Job Prospects (Education) scored 3/4
- Culture & Leisure scored 5
- Wellbeing/Health/Social Care/Elderly scored 5

The Chief Officer thanked members for their excellent input and suggested that he would send over a list to the Acting Clerk for Members to look at before the next workshop.
